Re: INVITATION TO DIGITAL YOUTH CONCERT

Beethoven's Belated Birthday Ball

The Charlottesville Symphony at the University of Virginia
Invites all area school children to view a digital version of our 2021 Youth Concert

Available January 4, 2022 through March 31, 2022

Music Director and Narrator: Benjamin Rous
Dancers: Emily Hartka and Abigail Brent
Musicians: Principal Members of the Charlottesville Symphony

Born in 1770, Ludwig van Beethoven would have turned 250 years old on December 16, 2020...if he were still alive! The Charlottesville Symphony hoped to invite students to UVA's Old Cabell Hall to celebrate. Due to the pandemic, we waited and waited for a safe date, but finally decided to throw a ball in his honor instead – and we recorded it for you to enjoy!

Join us online during the months of January, February and March 2022 for Beethoven's Belated Birthday Ball where you will hear dance-like works by Beethoven and other more modern composers: William Grant Still, Valerie Coleman and Paquito D'Rivera. Meet the instruments of the orchestra and learn about Beethoven's life, his music, his challenges and his victories! Compare Beethoven's means of expressing himself through music to the other composers' musical languages – and try dancing a waltz and minuet, guided by our friends Emily Hartka and Abigail Brent of the Charlottesville Ballet!

While our annual concerts are designed for students in fourth and fifth grades, we are certain that music teachers can share the video with students of all ages in meaningful ways, and we encourage them to do so. Visit our website where you will find the Study Guide and YouTube links to the music.

Who is eligible to view the video performance:

While our annual concert is designed for students in fourth and fifth grades, we are certain that music teachers can share the video with students of all ages in meaningful ways, and we encourage them to do so.

The Charlottesville Symphony's Annual Youth Concerts are designed to aid recruitment for local band and orchestra programs by targeting students the year before they begin studying band and orchestra instruments at school. By inviting students to our concerts in the academic year just before they start a school instrumental music program, we aim to help them make more informed decisions about which instrument they will choose to play.
