

CHARLOTTESVILLE
SYMPHONY
AT THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA

50
YEARS

PETER, the Bees, the Alligator...and...the WOLF!

The Charlottesville Symphony at the University of Virginia Invites fourth and fifth grade students to attend its Annual Youth Concert
Old Cabell Hall, University of Virginia
Thursday, October 17, 2024
10:00AM and 11:30AM

Imagine how the sleek sound of a silvery flute could take flight like a fluttering bird; or how the lumbering low notes of a bassoon might remind you of your grandfather's grumpy gait.

Picture the percussion family, mallets whirring like the wings of a bee.

Visualize the strings – violins to the basses – vigorously vacillating their bows as they depict a young boy's adventure;

and envision the brilliant sounds of brass instruments snapping like an alligator...or a wolf!

The Charlottesville Symphony, celebrating its 50th Anniversary Season, will introduce the orchestral families through animal-themed works by Nicolai Rimsky-Korsakov, Gina Gillie, Henry Fillmore and Kazumi Totaka, in a performance featuring Sergei Prokofiev's Peter and the Wolf, narrated by Music Director Benjamin Rous.

More details and reservation information will be sent on August 12th.
Additional details will be posted on our website: www.cvillesymphony.org

Sponsors:

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Brown Fund for Youth Concerts

Richard M. and Tessa G. Ader Endowed Fund for Music Education

The Joseph and Robert Cornell Memorial Foundation

Individual contributors to the Charlottesville Symphony Society Annual Fund

McIntire Department of Music at the University of Virginia